Bill Marumoto has been appointed acting Alumni Relations Director for Whittier College. He is filling the vacancy left by Bob O'Brien. He assumed his duties this week, however he will continue graduate studies in the fall.

All persons planning to graduate in June or in Summer School this year, are asked to check the tentative list of degree candidates in the Registrar's office or the bulletin board in Founders Hall, to make sure your name is on the list. Students are also asked to check to see if your name appears exactly as you wish it on your diploma. If not, contact the registrar immediately; they will order the diplomas next week.

The Student Health Service announced this week that the free California State polio vaccination supply is exhausted. The Health Service will announce when the polio shots will again be available free of charge. First injections will still be effective even if the second is two months later. There will be time to have the entire series following spring vacation.

Dinner To Host Student Leaders

The Presidents Dinner for all student body and class officers, plus all presidents and social chairmen of campus organizations will be held April 11 at 6:00 at the Shangri-la. After dinner, those attending will divide into three discussion groups. The topics and questions for discussion are:

1. Academic Strengths and Weaknesses.

Do finals serve the purpose and are they necessary?

Are Blue Slips effective?

Are we encouraging academic achievement by lowering the grade average for participation in extracurricular activities? Example—athletics and drama, etc.

Does the campus have an atmosphere for attaining academic achievement? Do the standards for grading make it too easy for the students to make a passing grade?

2. Extra curricular non-social activities strengths and weaknesses:

What is the place of cultural activities on the campus?

What are some of the events that can be included in cultural development of the campus?

Are the students aware of the cultural activities? If they are not, what can we do to better the situation?

3. Extra curricular social activities strengths and weaknesses:

Has the social program been well planned?

Is the shortage of men a social problem?

What events will improve the social program of Whittier College?

Do the social activities overshadow the other events on the campus?

The cost for the dinner is $3.00 per person. Payment for each person attending will be made by the organization that he represents. All payments are due to Marion Schwander by April 11.

T.B. Testing Program Set

Testing for Tuberculosis will be held on campus April 8-9 at the Student Health Center. All students and personnel of Whittier College will have a chance to participate in the program.

Whittier College is the only college taking part in the program sponsored by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis and Health Association, which is in the second year of the three year survey.

The test given on the 8 and 9 is the Mantoux skin test. The results of the test will be read on April 10-11, everyone taking the test should report back on the set dates to the Health Service to determine the results of the test.

If the reaction to the test reads positive, it means that the subject has contacted the germ; but it does not mean that he has the disease. Those persons with a positive reaction will be given an opportunity to take a chest x-ray on April 23, to determine if there has been any damage to the lung.

Any student or employee who knows that he has had a previous positive reaction in the past should take the x-ray, however he should not take the skin test again. If a person has taken the test in the past and received a negative reaction he should repeat the skin test.

Undergrads of Whittier A Cautious Generation!

By CHARLES ANDRAIN

No rebels without a cause raise their bloody banners on the Whittier College campus today. There are not even any rebels WITH causes. The present generation of college students displays a cautious suspicion toward revolutionary new programs. To explore a world of untested ideas, to campaign enthusiastically for a pet cause, to take a definite stand on pressing social issues would reveal a certain naivete. Today's undergraduate has heard enough talk about fantastic Utopian schemes for improving mankind.

Security not Reform

The crises and reforms of the first half of the twentieth century have left Joe College breathless and rather weary. The War to end all wars, the jazzy, darling Twenties, the Great Depression, the social upheavals of the New Deal days, the Second World War, the Cold War, the Korean conflict whizzed by in rapid succession. Now he must catch his breath, relax, and enjoy life. Having a secure, satisfying, successful job and a happy marriage with many children now holds more appeal to the collegian than courageously supporting any idealistic reform movements.

Move for Moderation

Now is the time for moderation. Any informed, integrated college student knows the folly of the reactionary's platform. Yes, there must be progress and improvement, but without instability. The middle way now seems the most sensible way. Unfortunately, the student has reached an intellectual stalemate. Seeing both the good and bad features of all reform proposals, he hesitates giving any of them positive, definite support.

Two members of the Whittier College faculty further analyzed in interviews the characteristics of this generation of college students. Dr. Albert W. Upton, Professor of English, feels that the typical Whittier College young person is characterized by his superb health and adjustment. Today's undergraduate is not confused himself; "he just baffles his confused elders." Order, not confusion, prevails today, although the family has lost its function of maintaining order and discipline. The striking aspect is the degree to which "the school has maintained order in inevitable chaos."

Crusaders Maladjusted

According to Dr. Upton, crusaders are maladjusted, and reform movements deal with emotional problems. When abnormal emotional states do not prevail, society needs no reforms. Today's college student works for improvement, not reform.

Whittier College is not bothered by intellectuals, observes Dr. Upton. A large university may have ten intellectuals, but Whittier probably has only one and a half. Most students here are not reflective. The problems of the world do not disturb them. If questioned, they would probably reply that training for a job is the most important reason for going to college. Studies are the means to a greater income. However, while in college they attach slightly more importance of social activities. Dr. Upton says that the objective of Whittier College is to "turn out healthy, gregarious animals who will become self-supporting individual human beings with ideals."

Safe from Fraternity Fox

Dr. Upton recognizes two distinct types on the Whittier campus. There is the professional athlete who comes to college to exhibit his exceptional physical ability. Then there is the "protected female" who is sent to Whittier where she may be "safe from the hunger of the university wolf and the wiles of the fraternity fox." Upton feels that the majority of students do not wish to be typed. College life here exemplifies a balance of interests, and is less differentiated than in most schools.

Dr. Paul A. Albrecht, Assistant Professor of Psychology, discovers two characteristics of Whittier College students. In their social behavior they are congenial, well-mannered, and considerate. Intellectually, they are conforming and dependent, not challenging or questioning. The undergraduates on this campus have an attitude of adaption and acceptance. Accept the world as it is. Learn to live with anxiety. These students affirm the realistic approach, the necessity of adjusting to life's problems.

No Radicals, We

Based on personal experience, Dr. Albrecht feels that the previous generation was generally more radical intellectually. He observes now no violent reaction to authority nor any cynicism. Today's collegians desire to please; they want to do what people expect of them. The students are serious-minded, but do not show very much interest in purely intellectual pursuits. Their application is better than their creativity.

From these two interviews emerges a perceptive picture of the Whittier College undergrad-

THE LEAGUE STANDING—Last Tuesday's Exec meeting, predominated by special Committee reports, was concluded in record time of a little over one hour. Such a fact may not appear noteworthy until compared to the usual two and a half to three hours (once last semester, the Exec met for over five hours!). Also, this comparison may suggest the considerable amount of time your Exec officer's devote to assuring the smooth functioning and advancement of our Whittier Student Government program, not to mention the time and energy in planning and conducting their own-particular office responsibilities.

NEXT INNING—Scheduled to report next Tuesday night are the National Affiliation Committee, co-chaired by Carleen Finney and Tex Baker, and the A.W.S. Constitution Committee, composed of Marion Schwander, John Avila, Tex McClellan, and chairman Carolyn Dundas. Both are special appointed Exec Committees.

A HIT—The Exec minutes and agendas distributed last Tuesday to all presidents and committee chairmen on the Whittier College campus appeared to receive favorable approval. The reason for this innovation is to make more people aware of the actions and opinions of Exec. It was felt that the various heads of organizations could relay the information and then bring the opinions and questions of their groups to the attention of Exec. The distribution will occur every week.

BASE UNLOADED—Today is the last day to get in that application for handbook editor to Dean Reinstedt, chairman of Board of Publications.

The Foul & the Error,

uate—a cautious, adaptive, moderate person who would rather improve than rebel or reform. challenge of building a new social structure established on an idealistic foundation is one this cautious, generation declines to accept.

Poet Nine Tops Waves With Big Fourth Inning

Six men scored with two men out in the last half of the fourth inning to spearhead a Whittier College 8-6 non-league baseball win over Pepperdine Tuesday afternoon on the Poet diamond.

The classy Wave squad that earlier in the season defeated the Poets 10-3, has since met outstanding professional teams including the Los Angeles Angels.

Whittier trailed 2-0 before the fourth inning splurge. Singles by Bob Seymour and Bruce Caldwell preceded the two outs, Caldwell was one of the outs, being mailed on a force play with Don Shaffer making it to first.

Seymour scored on a wild pick-off play, George Vallance walked and catcher Ron Thom tripled two runs home, and scored on a bunt throw from the outfield. The final two runs of the outburst came when Bob Osborn doubled scoring Bob Zabel who had walked and Jim Olson who had singled.

Insurance tallies were added by the Poets in the fifth when Caldwell and Hasley walked and Thom singled to score Caldwell. Hasley scored on a fielder's choice.

Thom collected three hits and drove in as many runs, in his first game of the season. Thom had practiced but one day in order to replace regular backstop

Milt Stark who was injured in Friday's game against Redlands.

Hurling six and two-thirds innings, Zabel allowed seven hits to post his first win of the season. Ron Klepper relieved Zabel in the seventh inning when Pepperdine scored four runs.

Tomorrow the Poets travel to Westmont for another non-league engagement, slated for 2 p.m.

Tuesday is also set for a non-league road game with Whittier meeting Chapman.

Last Friday the Poets battled to a nine inning 11-11 tie with Redlands in a wild skirmish. Darkness halted the fray at Redlands and the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference game will be replayed only if it has a bearing on the championship.

The Poet SCIAAC record is now 2-3-1.

sweeps in both the 100-yard dash and the shotput. Reynolds captured first in the 100 in 10.4, the 220 in 22.8, the 120-yard high hurdles in 17.3 and in the broad jump with a leap of 19' 6 1/2" to account for 20 points in the meet, the best individual performance of any Whittier trackman this year. Asaro shattered his school shotput record by a foot for the fourth time this season as he heaved the shot 47' 6".

Whittier Swimming Team in Pomona-Claremont Meet

Whittier swimmers will clash with the Pomona-Claremont "Sagehens" at 4:00 p.m. today in the Pomona pool as they seek revenge for the recent defeat handed them by their Northern foes.

The Poet natators ran up against an unyielding wall of swimming power last Friday as they fell solidly before the mighty Cal Poly "Mustangs" in the San Luis plunge. The Northern team captured all events but the 30 and 100 yard freestyle and the four-man sprint relay delegating Poets to seconds and thirds in other events.

Bob Lowe showed marked improvement over his earlier attempts in the 100 yard freestyle. Bob came from behind the other swimmers in the final lap of the race to capture third place only a fraction of a second behind the second place Cal Poly man.

Pomona-Claremont will be Whittier's toughest league adversary yet, but the Poet swimmers may have what it takes to wet the "Sagehen" feathers. Whittier will have greater strength in the diving, distance and backstroke events which might prove fatal to the Pomona crew.

Track Team In Tri-Meet Sat. on Memorial Oval

Coach Aubrey Bonham's undermanned varsity track squad plays host to three non-conference foes tomorrow afternoon when they tangle with Chapman, Westmont and Pasadena in a quadrangle trackfest beginning at 1:30 p.m. on the Memorial Field.

Last Saturday the Poet tracksters were dropped 77-54 by the Cal Tech Beavers in their second Southern California Intercollegiate Conference outing on the Poets' home field. The Poetbabs, on the other hand, led by Duke Reynolds who won four first places and Vince Asaro who set a new school record in the shotput, captured its first victory of the 1967 track season as they whipped the Beaver yearlings 85-38.

Captain Joe Sarthou, Ron Tebbis and Len Peden copped top honors for the Whittier men in the meet as this trio accounted for 34 of the Poets' 54 points against the Beavers. Peden and Tebbis were double winners in the dual meet as Peden brought home the bacon in both hurdles events, posting a 16.4 in the 120-yard high hurdles and a 25 flat low mark. While Tebbis won the 100-yard dash in the unofficial time of .10 flat and the 220 in 22.3. Sarthou captured a first in the shotput and seconds in the 440 and javelin.

The Poetbabs accounted for ten first places and a tie for first in the meet as they enjoyed their best day of the year by recording
