THE COVER

Mrs. Erema Armitage, '07, '327 S. Pickering, Whittier, was the only member of her class able to attend the 1947 Whittier College Homecoming. Through the loyalty of Mrs. Armitage, the class of '07 took the honors as being the earliest class represented. Mrs. Armitage says that even 40 years after her graduation, she is thrilled to return to Alma Mater at Homecoming time.

Letter From The Secretary . . .

Dear Friend,

Homecoming 1947 was a great success!

More than four hundred Alumni returned to the campus to join in the program of lunches, receptions, and reunions. The Banquet, an excellent meal served at the William Penn Hotel, was enjoyed by over two hundred people who were on hand to install Russell Ranzona, '25, as our new president. Paul Pickett, '22, and Harvey Whitson, ex-'42, were elected vice-president and treasurer respectively.

The Poet Varsity provided the climax of the day when they defeated the Sagehens of Pomona College in the last ten seconds of play by kicking a field goal.

With such an auspicious beginning, our program for 1948 should carry our Association on to greater heights than ever before. Since our reputation as an Association is made by what we accomplish as a group, it is of primary importance that this year's Christmas Fund be greater than ever. We have set as our goal twenty full scholarships representing a cash value of eight thousand dollars. We are, therefore, asking each graduate, former student, and Broad Oaks graduate to contribute five dollars to this cause. If you cannot contribute that much, send what you can; if it is only one dollar—send it!

The first of several district meetings is planned for Pasadena in mid-January. Chapters will also be organized in North Hollywood, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Santa Ana, and Pomona shortly after.

The 1948 Alumni Directory is scheduled to go to press in June. Questionnaires will be mailed in February so that you will have plenty of time to make the May 1st deadline.

I believe that this is a rather comprehensive program which merits your wholehearted support. Here is what you can do: one, fill out your questionnaire completely and return it promptly; two, make every effort to attend the meetings held in your area; and, three, give five dollars to the Christmas Fund.

For a stronger and more active Alumni I remain,

Yours sincerely,

ED PATERSON, '43
Secretary

1947 POET CHRISTMAS FUND DRIVE OPENED; GOAL SET AT $8000—TWENTY SCHOLARSHIPS

On November 8 at the Annual Homecoming banquet, Kenneth Ball, '34, immediate past president of the Alumni Association, opened the drive for the 1947 Christmas Fund. Ken pointed out that the proceeds of the Fund are used entirely for scholarships to worthy high school seniors and honor students now attending the college. He also reminded Poet alumni that since the abolition of alumni dues, this is the only contribution requested during the year by the Alumni Association.

Ken closed his talk by suggesting that every member give five dollars in order that our goal of twenty scholarships be reached. In any event, he went on to say, it is important that each alumnus gives something, be it only a dollar.

Shown below is a list of the contributions by classes to the 1946 Christmas Fund. The entire amount of $2,749.50 was used to finance the full or part tuition for eleven students whose names and records were given in the June, '47, issue of "The Rock."

Alumni Association membership now numbers nearly 4,000, over twice the size of last year's total. For this reason, our 1947 Christmas Fund goal has been set at twenty scholarships or $8,000.

Note below the percentage of people in your class who contributed last year and resolve today to "raise the average."

RUSS RANZONA . . .

Russ entered Whittier College in the fall of 1921. He started out as a science major, but switched in his junior year (Continued on Page 12)

PAUL PICKETT . . .

HARVEY WHITSON . . .

Harvey Whitson, '42, newly-elected treasurer of the Whittier College Alumni Association, showed early a flair for this type of work. In 1940, Harvey was student body treasurer at Whittier College, and that year left college to take a job at the Bank of America in Whittier.

REMEMBER THE TIME? . . .

A place for swapping tales of the good old days was the lawn in front of Redwood Hall during the early afternoon of Homecoming Day last month. Alumni and faculty circulated among the tables and from each chattering group rang the oft-repeated phrase—"Remember the time . . . ?"

College Receives New Observatory; Dedication Highlights Homecoming

Newest addition to the physical equipment of Whittier College, the Poet observatory, built by the Whittier College Foundation, complete with a powerful telescope, presented by E. G. Richardson of East San Gabriel, was dedicated and officially presented to the college during Homecoming Day last month.

The Whittier College Foundation, alumni science group, had originally planned to present a telescope in addition to the platform and building, but E. G. Richardson, upon reading publicity on the proposed project, notified the Foundation that he had a telescope already completed which he would present to the college to be used in expanding the astronomy department.

Richardson's telescope has an 18-inch mirror and an 11-foot focal length and is an outstanding instrument, according to Dr. H. Randolph Pyle, professor of mathematics at the college and a member of the Foundation.

Installation of the instrument was made under the direction of Thurston Sydnor, '39, and William Olsen, '35, Poet alumni now on the faculty of Pasadena Junior College. The telescope is situated on college property east of Worsham Drive and above the Herbert E. Harris Amphitheater. Sydnor directed construction work on the project, while Olsen, an associate of the Mt. Wilson and Palomar staffs, was in charge of placing the telescope. Dr. Pyle directed the surveying of the site, and Penn Pickering was in charge of road construction and site leveling.

R. L. Warren, prominent Whittier architect, assisted by A. F. Starbuck, '28, created the plans for the building, and the construction was done by Thurston Sydnor, '39, R. A. Barmore, '40, M. D. Claxton, '40, C. E. Cooper, '40, N. Davis, '27, G. E. Fobes, '36, C. A. Snow, '30, W. Walker, '30, and W. Young, '29.

Both Dr. Pyle and Dr. William C. Jones, '26, president of the college, spoke at the dedication ceremonies, held on the observatory site.

DR. TOM COFFIN, '36 . . .

DR. J. H. COFFIN POINTS WITH PRIDE AS SON'S RESEARCH DRAWS ACCLAIM

Dr. J. Herschel Coffin, professor of philosophy and psychology at Whittier College since 1923, is mighty proud these days of a recent accomplishment of Dr. Coffin.

But he's not an egotist!

The second Dr. Coffin is Dr. Thomas E. Coffin, '36, associate professor of psychology at Hofstra College and the son of the first Dr. Coffin.

Dr. Tom Coffin, a Poet alumnus who obtained a Ph.D. from Princeton University in 1942, last year completed a pamphlet in collaboration with Dr. Louis H. Cohen of Yale University revealing the result of several years' research into the mind of the insane murderer.

Reviewed in the Medicine Section of Time Magazine (May 12, 1947), the Coffin-Cohen pamphlet, entitled "The Pattern of Murder in Insanity," is based upon study of 18 psychotic murderers and their crimes, and blasts the popular theory that an insane murderer is "fiendishly clever" in planning and executing his crimes.

An associate professor of psychology and head of his department at Hofstra College in Hempstead, Long Island, Dr. Tom Coffin and his wife have been keeping house in a Quonset hut since his appointment there.

KENNETH G. BEYER, '47, NAMED WINNER OF FIRST ANNUAL WALTER DEXTER AWARD

The memory of Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier College from 1923 to 1934, was honored recently when the First Annual Walter F. Dexter Award was presented to Kenneth G. Beyer, graduate student at Whittier College, at a college convocation.

To be awarded each year to the student rendering the greatest service to Whittier College, the Dexter Award was established this year in memory of the late college president. Beyer, a married veteran, was senior class president at the college last year.

Dr. Harold F. Spencer, Dean of the college, briefly reviewed the life of Walter Dexter in the convocation ceremony, and a painting of the late, beloved president who died in 1945, was displayed on the speaker's platform. Both Dean Spencer and Dr. William C. Jones, president of the college, were students during Dr. Dexter's years as president of Whittier College.

Poet Squad Loses Initial Tilt; Upsets Fox Cagers, 50-46, As Basketball Season Begins

The Poet varsity doesn't need to worry about that legendary undefeated season this year, and it's probably quite a load off the mind of Headman Aubrey Bonham, on the spot this year as having the team everyone wants to beat. The Quakers were stunningly upset, 49-44, by Pasadena Nazarene College, in their first scheduled game of the season a couple of weeks ago.

Angered at their poor showing, the Quakers traveled north to Ventura for their second game and squelched a heavily-favored Twentieth Century Fox AAU squad, 50-46.

Holders of one of the outstanding records in the nation last year with 27 victories and two losses, the Poets are the team toward whom every opponent is pointing this season. After capturing the S.C.I.C. casaba crown last year, winning eight straight conference victories and losing none, the Whittier five is not expecting such easy pickings this season. Gone from the Poet lineup are All-Coast Guard Bob Turtle, last season's captain, and All-Conference Guard Carl Sherwood, who, between them, averaged 21 points a game for 29 straight games.

Coach Bonham is building his squad this year around a nucleus of five returning lettermen. Back this season are Captain Bill Moore, All-Conference center in 1946-47; Gordon Pedersen and Jean Martin, All-Conference second team forwards; Don Wardman, letterman center; and Ray Hooper, letterman forward. Bonham has moved Wardman and Pedersen to the guard spots in an attempt to plug the gap left by the graduation of Turtle and Sherwood, and has moved Jack Barton, scrap-

1947 Homecoming Game Highlights Grid Season; Poets Lose Final Tilts

After furnishing Quaker Alumni with a thrilling climax the 1947 Homecoming Day by knocking off Pomona College, 15-12, the Whittier College grid squad traveled south to lose to San Diego State College, 19-0, and then returned to Hadley Field to bring down the curtain on this year's pigskin season by dropping a 7-6 heartbreaker to the University of Redlands.

Although finishing with a mediocre record this year, the Poet team upheld the Whittier tradition of never finishing lower than third in the Southern California Conference at any cost, as they tied Pomona for third position. The University of Redlands Bulldogs captured the first official conference crown with an undefeated S.C.I.C. season, and Occidental trailed them with two wins, a loss, and a tie. Whittier College and Pomona College each finished with one win, two losses, and a tie.

The Poets scored only 44 points during the entire 1947 season for a game average of 4.89, while their combined opponents totals 129 for an average of 14.33 points-per-game. In all, the Quakers won two, lost six, and tied one.

"Bucky" Harris led the Poet ground-gainers with a season average of 5.27 yards-per-carry in 18 tries. Jack Brownell was second with an average of 4.13 yards in 37 carries, followed, in order, by "Stew" Pike, 3.82 yards, 52 carries; Jack Wood, 3.40 yards, 22 carries; Joe Feary, 3.34 yards, 38 carries; "Buck"

DR. HERBERT E. HARRIS' REMARKS AT THE GROUND BREAKING CEREMONIES FOR LOU HENRY HOOVER MEMORIAL HALL

About Lou Henry Hoover

In a few moments, ground is to be broken for a new college building to be named for Lou Henry Hoover. We may think of her vaguely as one apart, above, as mistress of the White House and wife of the great president, Herbert Hoover. I hope that we shall come to know her more intimately; that somehow, the richness of her spirit may fill these new halls and quicken the lives of students through centuries to come.

Mrs. Hoover's father was the first banker of Whittier. As a girl, she had a pony and galloped gayly over these Puente Hills. As a student in the first academy here, she was always originating activities, filling a rather quiet rustic little town with varied interests. She was a student, too, writing an essay that won first place in the academy contest and publication in the local newspaper. But then the boom ended. There was no more money for a banker and no academy. The family moved north and Lou Henry went to Stanford. There she met and married a young engineer.

She shared all the wide interests of her husband. She was with him in China where he was developing mining interests. Reports have returned of an incident there which those who knew her as a girl may well believe. The Boxer Rebellion broke loose and mobs were wrecking homes and business of foreigners. Mrs. Hoover was in another part of the city when the rioting started. She caught a ricksha, made the runner race across the city to her home, confronted the mob, and, by sheer force of will, drove them off and saved the property.

She joined her husband in humanitarian relief in Europe after the first World War and then became the First Lady of the land. On the way to assume her duties of that position, she stopped at Whittier College to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature, and, after several years, accepted a place on the Board of Trustees of Whittier College. But still she had been unable to spend any time at the college that we might really know her.

It became my privilege to arrange such a visit. At last, she called me long distance one night and said she could reach the college at nine o'clock the next morning. There was no sleep for me that night! Elaborate plans for her reception, dignitaries to meet her, opportunities for her to speak at the college, and perhaps a city-wide program—all had to be arranged. I had built up a picture of a grand lady, dominating the scene, and graciously condescending to common people.

Trembling, I met the auto at Founders Hall at nine o'clock. We went into my office and I began to tell her how the mayor and the president of the Board and others would extend greetings to her at Chapel, and that she might have any length of time she wished for her talk. Smilingly, she flagged me. She wanted no formality.

"But, what do you want to do?"

"I am not on parade. I came to see Whittier College just as it usually is. I want to go around to the laboratories and the classrooms and see students and faculty at work."

So we went to the laboratories first. She insisted on slipping quietly in at side doors, watched the students at experiments, talked with them, finally met the professors who nearly swooned when introduced to her.

"You will speak at Chapel?"

"No, I want just your usual program, especially with students sharing."

So I slipped out and got word to the glee clubs, and they sang and there was a bit of a college rally. I had put Mrs. Hoover in the care of two senior girls to whom I had privately whispered instructions. They were seated in the center of the auditorium. When the other features were ended, I invited Mrs. Hoover to come to the stage, and at the word, the two girls rose and escorted her so courteously that she could not refuse—but she halted on the steps of the stage and there talked to us charmingly for several minutes.

I shall always remember that scene—this woman who had known high honors in the Orient, in Europe, in America, standing silhouetted against an American flag draped on the wall, talking naturally, simply, directly to us as equals. It has become to me the symbol of America.

Young women of Whittier College, I hope each of you may marry a great man. If you so wish, I hope each one of you may spend a term as hostess in the White House. But more, I wish for each of you the zest in living, the friendliness, the liking for people, the sincerity of Lou Henry Hoover.

Herbert and Lou Henry Hoover

About Dr. W. V. Coffin

Whittier College is to honor itself today by conferring a degree upon Dr. W. V. Coffin. Many who have helped to build this institution are here today, but I believe that Dr. Coffin is more responsible for its creation and for its development than any other single individual. Of the long service he has given, 56 years ago he began—I may point out only two or three typical features.

The grand plans for a great college building in 1888 collapsed with the boom. Then an academy started, ran a few months, and died. Another ran through 1889, and it too failed. Certainly, it was evident that Whittier could not support any school higher than grades. But Dr. Coffin and an associate offered to try again. They were given the use of a little brick business building down town. All the income they had were tuitions, $10 a term. The first day only 13 students appeared. The largest number any time during the year was 35. The finely equipped faculty of two experienced scholars must have received almost $500 apiece for their year's work. But they did not quit. They struggled on two more years.

Then Dr. Coffin proposed that the community get a campus and build a college. The founders of the town—it had several hundred residents in the year of 1893—agreed to donate 14 acres, where the college now centers, if the promoters would erect a building costing $6000 within six months entirely free of debt. Dr. Coffin was authorized to raise

New Broadoaks Alumnae Officers

Jeanette Eyerly Mills . . .

Bettie Lewis . . .

Jean Ann McGillvrae . . .

Jeanette Eyerly Mills, '45, was re-elected treasurer of the Broadoaks Alumnae Association during the recent Homecoming festivities at Whittier College.

Mrs. Mills attended the University of Colorado before entering Broadoaks School in 1943. During the 1944-45 school year, she served as vice-president of the student body.

Upon her graduation in 1945, Mrs. Mills entered the teaching profession in the Pasadena school system and has been teaching at the Andrew Jackson school since that time.

Mrs. Mills has served as treasurer of the Broadoaks Alumnae since the formation of the group.

Bettie Lewis, newly-elected president of the Broadoaks Alumnae Association, came to Whittier College as a junior in 1943 after having spent her first two college years at Fullerton J. C. An education major, Bettie spent her senior year on the Broadoaks campus in Pasadena and was a member of the last class to be graduated from that campus.

A member of Delta Phi Upsilon, Bettie was graduated from Broadoaks and Whittier College in 1945 with a B.S. degree and a Kindergarten-Primary credential.

Since leaving Broadoaks, Bettie has been a kindergarten teacher at the East Whittier school.

Jean Ann McGillvrae, '46, newly-elected historian of the Broadoaks Alumnae Association, attended the Broadoaks School during her junior year in college. While at Broadoaks, she majored in kindergarten-primary education and belonged to Delta Phi Upsilon and to the Metaphonian Society. Jean served one year as president of the Delta Phi Upsilon active chapter.

Returning to the Whittier College campus at the beginning of her senior year, Jean was graduated from the Quaker school in 1946.

A resident of Whittier, she is now teaching kindergarten at the Temple School in El Monte.

BROADOAKS

Ruth Geiger Bernard, '28, recently-elected vice-president of the Broadoaks Alumnae Association, served as president of Delta Phi Upsilon while a student on the Broadoaks campus. Upon her graduation, Mrs. Bernard began teaching kindergarten in Montebello and has remained as a teacher in that city for the past 19 years.

Mrs. Bernard resigned last year as a full-time teacher, but is still carrying on her activities by doing substitute work.

Active in the Pasadena Alumnae chapter of Delta Phi Upsilon, the new vice-president has twice served as head of the group.

She is at present a member of the Montebello Business and Professional Women's Club in addition to her other affiliations.

Lillian H. Thompson, '28, new secretary of the Broadoaks Alumnae Association, was a member of Lambda Omicron sorority, secretary of the senior class, and a member of the "Oakleaves" staff during her time at the Broadoaks School. Upon her graduation in 1928, Mrs. Thompson began teaching kindergarten in San Gabriel.

In 1930, she became interested in the field of speech correction and carried on her work in the area of San Gabriel. In 1937, she also began to work in the El Monte school district in speech correction.

Mrs. Thompson returned to general teaching for two years during the war.

Married in 1939, Mrs. Thompson has two children, Judith, 7, and Byron, 2.

Mrs. Mark Savage, (Elizabeth Francisco, '38), lives with her husband and two children in Richmond, returning to California after six years in Stamford, Connecticut. Her husband is a research chemist with Standard Oil.

Mrs. George C. Hampson (Mary Elizabeth Adams, Broadoaks, '38) lives in Cheshire, England, and writes that she is very happy to receive the "Rock" and news of old acquaintances.

Ruth Oiler Hardison, Broadoaks '23, has made her home in Texas since 1928. Her son, Harvey, just returned from three years in the Orient with the Marines. A daughter, Jane, is a student of journalism at the University of Kansas. She writes that she would have liked to be present at the Broadoaks luncheon but her family was having its first reunion for a long time in Kansas City that day. Ruth's grandfather, Cyrus Trueblood, was one of the founders of Whittier College.

Mrs. James Patterson (Lenore Hellworth, Broadoaks '29) lives in Phoenix, Arizona, and is Girl Scouts Executive Secretary of Maricopa County.

Miss Mary Anspach, '41, has returned to Bakersfield to start her second year as a psychometrist in the Junior College.

py, dead-eyed forward, up to team with Martin in the front line. Hooper is playing behind Martin and Dick Erbe, a guard on last year's squad, is backing up Barton.

A newcomer, Charley Reed, dusky transfer from East Los Angeles J. C., may prove the answer to Bonham's quest for center reserves to play behind Moore. Reed starred at the forward spot at East L. A., and at Monrovia high school. Bill McClary and Larry Snyder from the 1946-47 junior varsity are also playing the pivot post. Others up from the junior varsity and back from last season's varsity who may be expected to show well this year are: Bucky Harris, forward; Dick Tucker, guard; Wally Kincaid, guard; Jim Grobe, forward; Albert Waer, forward; Bill McLachlin, forward; Bill Strong, guard; and Gail Walker, forward. Dick Mastain and Jack Brownell, both guards, are newcomers to the Quaker casaba scene and may prove very valuable during the season.

Homecoming Game Highlights

funds, and soon reported $2600 in pledges, but no cash yet. But the contract for the building had already been let. It was completed on time, and was entirely free of debt, 15 years later. But, meantime, a college had grown and attained national recognition.

Dr. Coffin went into other work, but as a trustee of Whittier College, president of the Board for 19 years, he led in its constant expansion.

One incident shows his way of doing business. At last, in 1904, a class of four seniors was ready for graduation. Conservative forces arranged the proper sort of commencement, securing the Professor of Greek from Stanford to give the address. But others wanted to put on some events that would arouse student enthusiasm and let the town know a live college had arrived. The auditorium, however, had only a little, bare platform jutting out among the seats. So I went to Dr. Coffin and told him what we wanted to do.

"Go ahead, I'll get you a place," he said.

So the class wrote an original play and took star parts. We got "The Merchant of Venice" ready and advertised admissions for fifty cents. But where were they to be given? Suddenly, one day, trucks appeared on the front campus, unloaded, and a huge circus tent arose. The next day, trucks from lumber yards brought loads of borrowed lumber. Seats, stage, curtains, and footlights filled the tent. So did people for the plays and address and they paid enough admission to meet all the costs, including the fee for the speaker. So for thirty years, Dr. Coffin had for every forward movement, just one response—"Go ahead."

In 1906, an endowment campaign for $100,000 was completed and newspapers proclaimed that "Whittier College is permanently secure." But, Dr. Coffin wrote in his report: "Whittier College ere long will need more land, more buildings, more departments, more teachers, more endowment. Our plans should no longer be for present convenience, but looking to generations to come."

What must be his emotions today? He asked for more land—then 14 acres—now 100 acres; more buildings—then two—now 20; more endowment—then $150,000—now $900,000; more teachers—then seven—now 70; more students—then 22—now 1133.

Young men of Whittier College, I hope every one of you may make the football team this fall. But, far more, I hope that every one of you may be able to look ahead, to "Go Ahead," that you may dare to take risks, that you will dream dreams and then go out and make those dreams come true, even as Dr. William V. Coffin has done.

Paul Pickett . . .

uation from Whittier, and earned an M.S. degree there in 1923. Paul was graduated from Whittier high school, where his 16-year-old son, Dick, now attends, in 1918. His activities while in college included a class presidency and membership on a number of committees and boards.

Employed since 1923 as a petroleum refining technologist at the Wilmington refinery of the Shell Oil Company, Paul served for just over six years as a colonel in the Chemical Warfare Service during the last war. Out of uniform now, he is back at the Wilmington plant.

Paul is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Petroleum Institute, and the U. S. Army Reserve Officers' Association.
